

Data-wise, most companies don't get past the 'first page of search results.' But now, that's a choice, not a reality. Don't settle on vanity metrics. Get caught looking in the mirror and you'll miss the world that's changing around you."