

Edwards asked, "Why the big secret? People are smart. They can handle it." Yet, K replied, "A person is smart. People are dumb, panicky dangerous animals and you know it."

This is probably my favorite line from the movie Men in Black. Though to a point a person is smart, but only so far, that's just being a fallen sinful human being. I think, however, that this discussion between the future J, and K, the man who would become J's mentor, gives us a glimpse at what some think of the human population as a whole.

The reason I bring this up is that I was just watching C-SPAN with my grandfather. This was during the press conference where it was just announced that we as the United States of America are sending troops in the Special Forces to Syria in order to train Syrians and others to fight against ISIS. There is a probability that these soldiers may have to undergo a firefight where they would have to discharge their weapon against an aggressive opponent.
