See article at <http://english.alarabiya.net/en/News/middle-east/2014/06/13/Report-ISIS-steals-429mn-in-Mosul-capture.html>, one assumes that their financing is based on natural reserves of oil going through commercial distribution channels and my best guess is that these are exchanged to US dollars, unless the traders themselves do not keep high reserves of African-based currency without bothering to exchange them to US dollars.

NOTE: the word count limit on this website is misleading, it says the field has a maximum length of 2500 characters but I counted only 2480 characters using LibreOffice Writer.

Inside the White House: Letter...

Video: Inside the White House: Letters to the President

Every day, President Obama reads ten letters from the public in order to stay in tune with America's issues and concerns. "Letters to the President" is an exclusive, behind-the-scenes look at the process of how those ten letters make it to the President's desk from among the tens of thousands of letters, faxes, and e-mails that flood the White House each day. August 3, 2009.
