WHAT IS UPFRONT CONF?

UpFront Conf is a one-day event for the front-end development community, designed by leading practitioners from the North of England. Now in its fifth year, the conference brings together the world's foremost authorities on development, design, UX/UI and all things web and is ideal for any developer or designer looking for access to hot topics and the latest trends.

Whilst not compromising on quality we have worked hard to make sure that tickets are affordable and the conference is accessible to all levels of developer, whether just starting out or with several years of experience under your belt.
