as well as another browser, please explain exactly how.

Reproducible: please make sure that you can reproduce the bug, and provide step-by-step directions so that a software engineer can reproduce it too. It is very difficult to fix a bug that cannot be tested.

In addition, always describe both the results you expected and the results that actually happened, and state the milestone release or the build that you found the bug with.

If you can, please prepare a simplified testcase for any bug you report that involves a specific webpage, especially if it is one of your own, by following the directions at <http://www.mozilla.org/newlayout/bugathon.html#testcase>.

Our bug writing guidelines explain this in more detail. <http://www.mozilla.org/quality/bug-writing-guidelines.html>
