

Results

Add any additional information you feel may be relevant to this bug, such as the theme you were using (does the bug still occur with the default theme?), a Talkback crash ID, or special information about your computer's configuration. Any information longer than a few lines, such as a stack trace or HTML testcase, should be added using the "Create a new Attachment" link on the bug, after it is filed.

If you are reporting a crash, note the module in which Mozilla crashed (e.g., Application Violation in gkhtml.dll). On Macintosh, if you have MacsBug, attach the results of the how and sc commands.

Additional Information*Security

Check this box if this is a security problem that needs to be kept confidential (see the mozilla.org security policy for more details).

Severity

How serious the problem is. Also, if your bug is a request for a new feature or enhancement, say so here.

Step 3 - submit the bug

That's it! Thanks very much. You'll be notified by email about any progress that is made on fixing your bug.