i had breakfast earlier than on saturday, but i still killed the entire afternoon trying to "restore" my comp. the result was that i found some problematic files and trashed them. but the Finder (=windows explorer) still crashes on me sporadically and i have no idea how safe my files are.

anyway, since all this "work" of mine just appeared like more time-wasting to the old man, he got pissed even more than yesterday. just what i needed after all, to make me happy.

right?
