

Firefox Table Rendering Error

Can we e-mail you?

E-mail Address

I have reduced the original page with the error, so that only the problem causing code is left, for the most part.

For some reason the last cell is stretched to be bigger than it is supposed to be, but if you use the Web Developer Toolbar, you can outline the cells and see that there is no content that is stretching the cells. The stretching happens even if I comment out this whole row

The stretching goes away if I replace the text input box above with some simple text, or if I uncomment the row that begins on line 42 of the HTML code.