

5. As of 1999, the world's largest city was:
- A. Mexico City, Mexico
 - B. London, England
 - C. Bombay, India
 - D. Tokyo, Japan
 - E. Los Angeles, California, USA
6. According to your Environmental Science text, by the year 2025, close to _____ of the human population will live in cities.
- A. one-third
 - B. one-half
 - C. two-thirds
 - D. three-quarters
 - E. four-fifths
7. The Gaia Hypothesis states that the dominant force that has shaped the global environment through time is:
- A. the oceans
 - B. the atmosphere
 - C. life
 - D. the Gaia species
 - E. humans
8. According to Frederick Law Olmsted, planting vegetation in cities provides _____ benefits.
- A. medical
 - B. psychological
 - C. social
 - D. aesthetic
 - E. all of these
9. The story of Maitri Visetak illustrates that the increase in human population is not a major