

Overview

The basic idea of a Mozilla Contributor Directory is to create a single, central database of Mozilla contributors, including their contact information and what they work on. This is a clean and simple version of the CRM that has been talked about for the last 3-4 years, and that has since been adopted and extended by the Drumbeat project for fundraising activities and whatnot.

We really want to keep this as simple as possible, so we need only include what is absolutely necessary to meet our goals of knowing:

1. who our contributors are
2. what they do
3. how to get in touch with them
4. what size t-shirt they wear
5. where they live

Domain

The hope is that the Mozilla Contributor Directory will live at: Mozillians.org (Mofomo currently has control of that domain, but I'm hoping they'll let us have it back).

Access

Access would be limited to people in the Directory or who are invited to add themselves to the directory (by module owners or peers, most likely -- we would have to figure that part out).

This would not be accessible to the general public in any way.

Fields

If needed, we can add more fields later, but I want to keep this as minimal as possible until after we get something up and running and have a chance to use it for a while.

Required fields are starred. There are only three of them.
