

News

In Depth

Programmes

Video

Blogs

Business

Weather

Sport

Watch Live

Africa

Americas

Asia-Pacific

Central & South Asia

Europe

Middle East

Cairo clashes cast doubts over Egypt vote

Tahrir Square protest continues to grow after two days of fighting with security forces left at least 22 people dead.

Last Modified: 21 Nov 2011 14:36 GMT Middle East

Read More

- Egypt Live Blog
- Your Views: Egypt protests
- Mood turns against military
- Egypt in Transition
- Why Egypt matters

NOW News
NEXT Inside Story
 [In 06 mins]

Today's Schedule

Opinion

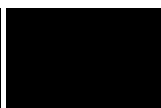

- The deep roots of conservative radicalism
Corey Robin
- Batman to the rescue
Danny Schechter
- Fifth column of the post kind
Hamid Dabashi
- Herman Cain and the case of victimology
Paul Rosenberg
- Chuck Grassley's Senate idiocy
Cliff Schecter
- Don't let them destroy revolution
Anonymous activist
- Start-up soup
Esther Dyson
- Why haven't the 2011 protests in Russia?
Sean Guillory

Cairo clashes cast doubts over Egypt vote

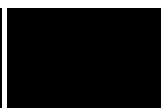

Egypt Live Blog

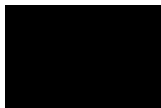

Turkish bus ambushed by Syrian gunmen

Cambodia begins trial of Khmer Rouge leaders

US debt-reduction panel on brink of failure

Iran hit with new sanctions over IAEA report

Britain, US and Canada impose new financial and energy sanctions on Iran in response to UN nuclear watchdog findings.

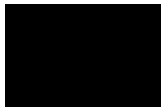

Last Modified: 21 Nov 2011 16:35 GMT

Spain shifts to the right in landslide vote

Mariano Rajoy set to become PM as Popular Party wins absolute majority of seats in parliament following Sunday's poll.

Last Modified: 21 Nov 2011 11:15 GMT

Pakistan 'holding peace talks' with Taliban

Senior Taliban commanders and government officials say "exploratory" talks were held over past six months.

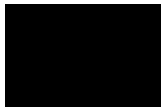

Last Modified: 21 Nov 2011 15:47 GMT

Gaddafi's fugitive former spy chief arrested

Abdullah al-Senussi captured in southern desert near where Gaddafi's son was also seized, Libyan officials confirm.

Last Modified: 21 Nov 2011 08:06 GMT

Suu Kyi to stand in Myanmar elections

Former political prisoner to run in upcoming elections days after her party ends boycott of political system.

Last Modified: 21 Nov 2011 06:48 GMT

In Video

Libya's Senussi may reveal regime secrets

Authorities hope arrested spy chief will shed light on many incidents during Gaddafi's regime.

Beckham's American dream set to end

Footballer must choose next moves as $250m five-year contract to raise profile of game in US expires.

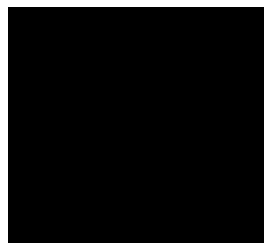

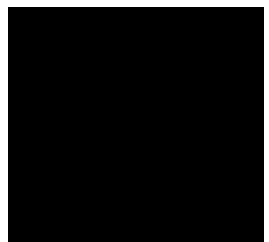

Bullying on the rise amid Mexico's violence

Report says country's increasingly violent culture has left half of nation's schoolchildren victims of bullying.

Economic slump threatens Kenya

Analysts say there is no reason why the country's economy should be retracting, despite weak finances.

#OccupyWallStreet

Follow Al Jazeera's coverage as US financial protests go global.

Highlights

Spain's boom to bust

Inside Story 21 Nov 2011 11:39 GMT

Will a new leadership change the fate of a country that is already heading into another recession?

Rostam Qasemi

Talk to Al Jazeera 19 Nov 2011 13:25 GMT

Iran's oil minister says oil could be used as a political tool, if necessary.

Enter Zip Code

Episode eight

On Earthrise

Is US challenging Beijing's ambitions?

On Inside Story

Eurozone woes

On Frost Over the World

Up in the air

On Counting the Cost

Blogs

Middle East Cairo protesters hold their ground

By Malika Bilal

Asia Whiplash: The Arroyo arrest

By Marga Ortigas

Middle East Egypt Live Blog

By Al Jazeera Staff

Asia The many sides of Pakistan's 'Memogate'

By Imran Khan

Join Our Mailing List

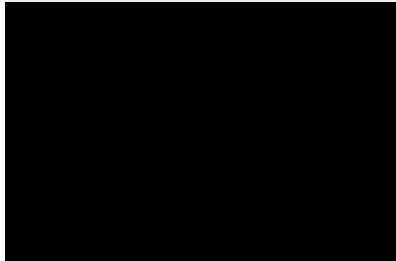

Email Address

Subscribe

What's Hot

- Viewed
- Emailed
- Cairo clashes cast doubts over Egypt
- Herman Cain and the conservative
- Turkish bus ambushed by Syrian g
- Why haven't the 2011 protests hit
- Fifth column of the postmodern ki
- The deep roots of conservative rad
- Iranian nuclear programme not at
- Chuck Grassley's Senate: Americar
- Gaddafi's fugitive former spy chief
- Don't let them destroy the revoluti

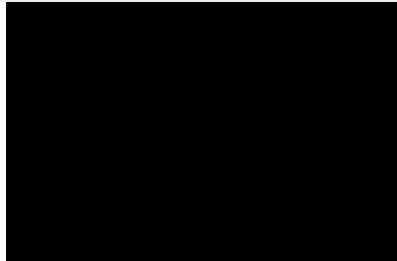

In Depth

Explainer: Why Egypt matters

Roxanne Horesh and Sam Bollier 20 Nov 2011 11:00 GMT

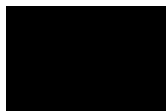

Panel of experts, activists and two former ambassadors weigh in on why the country has a significant role to play.

Egypt Timeline: Events of 2011

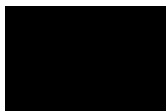

21 Nov 2011 16:04 GMT

Since the uprising began in January, Egypt has seen violence erupt, Mubarak resign and instability reign.

Confusion clouds run-up to Egypt elections

By Malika Bilal

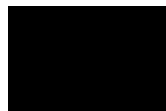

The cult of Maria Lionza

By Rhodri Davies

World's oceans in peril

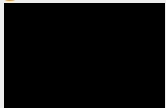

By Dahr Jamalil

Free Syrian Army grows in influence

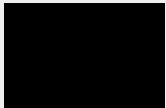

By Basma Atassi

Programmes

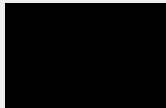

Talk to Al Jazeera

Al Jazeera interviews the people making the headlines.

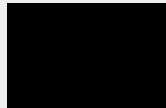

Listening Post

A weekly programme that examines and dissects the world's media.

earthrise

An upbeat new series exploring the solutions to today's environmental challenges.

Frost Over The World

Sir David Frost brings together the world's most powerful and famous people.

AL Jazeera English on Facebook

Like

810,601 people like AL Jazeera English.

Aminu	Adrianna	Wasib	Abdulrah
Ali	Zubair	Moataz	Emoem
Ashiwailu	Haheeh	Haneen	Sued

Facebook social plugin

