The Manage My Submissions page will display every platform that's submitted (platform that's not submitted is not displayed).
In this state, user hasn't completed the app submission process yet.

When hovering, the "Not Submitted" link becomes blue.
Clicking on these links will take user to the submission process.
Note how there's no action menu, because submission isn't complete yet.

After the submission process is done, the app is awaiting review.

This is the manage status page. In addition to the Review status, Delist app and Delete app, it has a section up above (name TBD).
This section is an extension of the table we saw, and is used for publishing.

Let's say that the user wants to publish for just Firefox OS.
I simply click on the "Published" checkbox, then click "Publish App".

The app is now published for Firefox OS and not for Desktop.
It's still not approved for Mobile and Tablet, though. User can go to the "Manage Status" page to submit a comment to the reviewer about that.
