 \γ. (backslash gamma dot)

\.Fènrir

\.prèfèrèè

\.é

\é

\*$ $\gamma.,\text{J}

If I type "\.Fènrir" in any interface keyboard starts to exhibit less fight-back, especially with \.Fènrir and \.prèfèrèe.

You can get by-letter typing feel. Difference is incredible.

\γ.,\text inserted in tab example

\γ.,\text

backslash - gamma - dot - comma - quarter note

:)

Rly, no one believes me?

What benchmarks I need to prove?

I see the difference with my own eyes,
for example \safari affecting color quality is really noticeable ...

:/
