

I can no longer use one of my email accounts because of spam. I have had to open two other accounts just to fend off spam. Please do anything legally possible to help home computer users like myself. Using my email has become an unpleasant experience and I have only had my internet service since February, 2004. It didn't take them long to find this senior citizen and ruin my mailbox. If the government doesn't do something to help us, we soon will just stop using it and go back to postage stamps. Thanks for letting me sound off.

anonymous