

Siloam Springs. SAGER, SIMON, CABIN, John Brown University campus, c. 1830.
Hand-hewn log construction with chamfer notching, limestone chinking, and clapboarded gable ends; 1 story, modified T shape; intersecting shingled gabled roof sections with full-width front porch extension supported by round posts, exterior end chimney, front off-center vertical-boarded entrance. Vernacular. First and oldest structure in Siloam Springs; typical of AR pioneer homes. Private.