Comments:

I have never been charged for an overdraft because I have never been overdrafted. However, a lot of people have and I think it is a very sneaky thing for a bank to do. What happened to the service bank? All we have now is a bank that is a money making institution. I should think that anyone who has a direct deposit, they should not be charged a fee. The bank knows full well they're going to get the money they paid for the customer who didn't have enough funds to pay. Come on banks, give people a bread!!!
