NOTICE

This list was compiled using information from many sources, beginning with a survey conducted in 1991. Additions and deletions have been made over the intervening years as information has become available to the Federal Railroad Administration. At no time has the agency required formal notification of the existence of train horn bans in communities, therefore, this list should not be considered all-inclusive. The list contains the best information available as of the date of its preparation. It is believed to include at least 90 percent of the crossings that are subject to train horn bans. Revisions will be made, as warranted, upon receipt of new information. It is important to point out that analyses conducted in the past were based on the best lists that existed at the times the analyses were performed. Variations between those lists and this list, therefore, exist.
