“Get News” from WDIN

The Wildlife Disease Information Node’s “Get News” page has all the news resources offered by WDIN in one place. Curious about the products described in the main article? Use the “Get News” page to learn more about the news resources available and choose the one(s) that best fits your news needs.

Wildlife Disease News Tailored to Your Needs...and it's Free!

The Wildlife Disease Information Node News Digest is an excellent way to stay updated on wildlife disease news with little time or effort on your part. The WDIN team searches for relevant wildlife disease news, as well as wildlife disease-related journal articles, and then creates concise, easy-to-read digests nearly daily.

How does it work?

Depending upon your needs, you can access the news in a variety of ways.

Daily: If you prefer daily updates of wildlife disease news, sign up to have them delivered directly to your email inbox. Headlines, source information, and a snippet of each article, along with links to each full article are delivered daily. You may unsubscribe at anytime.

Weekly: Weekly updates are delivered via email by the Wildlife Health Listserv on Fridays, providing the week’s news headlines with links to the respective daily posts. You may unsubscribe at any time.

At Your Leisure: Subscribe to the Wildlife Disease News Digest RSS feed to view daily news digest posts through your news feed aggregator as you please, or simply visit the Wildlife Disease News Digest Webpage at any time to view recent and past news entries, as well as for links to additional resources.

How can I sign up?
