Loan 2213-PAK SF (Grant 0029): Earthquake Emergency Assistance Project

Expression of Interest (EOI) for Establishment of Legal Aid Centers

The 8 October 2005 earthquake was the most debilitating natural disaster in Pakistan's history; the overall cost associated with the earthquake is estimated at US $ 5.2 billion, which includes the cost of relief, livelihood support for victims, and reconstruction.

The Asian Development Bank (ADB) through the Earthquake Emergency Assistance Project (EEAP) has committed US $ 365 million to support the Government of Pakistan rehabilitate and restore infrastructure damaged and destroyed by the earthquake in affected areas of Azad Jammu & Kashmir (AJK) and North-West Frontier Province (N-WFP). The EEAP is a targeted intervention with a multi-sectoral focus aimed at concurrent and integrated activities in the areas of health, education, power, infrastructure, law & judiciary, and sub-national government administration; the project is being executed by the Earthquake Reconstruction and Rehabilitation Authority (ERRA).

The destruction brought about by the earthquake has also generated legal and documentary issues for the earthquake-affected people and the Government. Loss of legal documents, insurance coverage, limitation period for claiming compensation, and entitlements are concerns that expose vulnerable groups, such as poor, women and children, to the increased risk of losing property claims and compensation. To address these issues the EEAP entails a subcomponent on Legal Assistance, Governance, & Institutional Building aimed at supporting the Government in developing legislative framework for the post earthquake reconstruction period, which will enable special legal provisions for people and property affected by the earthquake, and related purposes.

The EOI solicits submissions from qualified consulting firms that are interested in providing legal facilitation and assistance on earthquake related legal and documentary issues to the affected people. Establishment of Legal Aid Centers has been planned in all tehsils of NWFP and AJK as a conduit for legal aid, advice, and counseling, for earthquake-affected people and the Government, on issues pertaining to entitlements and succession. Details of expertise required to undertake the planned activity are listed below:

The consulting firm should have:

- At least ten (10) years of experience in dispensing related services or managing development projects;
- Key staff including personnel with demonstrated expertise and at least five (5) years work experience in Pakistan, knowledge and experience with relevant ministries, provincial/state authorities, and NGOs;
- Experience and capability of managing large scale projects both in terms of scale and scope; and
- A sound understanding of legal issues that emerge in disaster situations and provision of legal aid services.

Consulting firms with the requisite profile must submit their EOIs to ADB on the format given. Download the EOI form. The maximum length of the EOIs should be four A4-size-pages (one side printing). EOIs deviating from the given format or exceeding the page limit shall not be entertained. EOIs should be submitted in copies of three and mailed to the following address:

Governance Unit
Asian Development Bank
Pakistan Resident Mission
OPF Building, Shahrah-e-Jamhuriyat G-5/2, Islamabad

The ADB will evaluate the EOI received and will issue a Request for Proposal (RFP) to the qualifying firms for submission of financial and technical proposals. Please note that ADB reserves the right to select and notify firms for submission of RFP; an EOI does not render an applicant eligible to enter an RFP. The deadline for submission of EOI is 1630 hours, 22 February 2007.

Sector/Subsector: Agriculture & Natural Resources /Water Resources

Project Description: The provinces of Binh Dinh, Quang Binh, Quang Ngai, Quang Tri, Thanh Hoa, and Thua Thien Hue in central Viet Nam have high rural poverty and suffer disproportionately from natural disasters that cause loss of life and damage to houses and crops. Six irrigation subprojects (one in each province) with good potential for increased agricultural production were selected according to agreed selection criteria: (i) financially and economically viable, (ii) contributing strongly to poverty reduction, (iii) environmentally sustainable, (iv) compliant with principles of integrated water resource management, and (v) responsive to natural disaster risk reduction initiatives.

In these schemes, the project will: (i) improve irrigation system management by reforming service providers and concomitantly building capacity of client water users as partners in scheme operation and maintenance, and (ii) improve irrigation and drainage infrastructure and strengthen natural disaster risk reduction measures. Physical works will include rehabilitation and new construction of water conservation, irrigation, drainage, and protective measures.

The Project is premised on the assumption that improved performance of the region's irrigation schemes depends on introducing service-oriented management systems that are cost-efficient, effective, autonomous, and accountable. The participation of water user groups in the planning, design, implementation, and operation and maintenance of subprojects is not only indispensable for sustainable operation, but also a cost-efficient means of helping service providers meet their goals.

Impact, Outcome and Outputs: The project's impact will be reduced poverty in six central provinces. The project's outcome will be increased agricultural production in selected irrigation subprojects. The project's outputs will be: (i) cost-efficient, effective, accountable, and autonomous water service providers working in partnership with client water users to manage irrigation schemes; and (ii) rehabilitated and completed irrigation and drainage infrastructure incorporating measures to reduce vulnerability to natural disasters within selected schemes.

Consulting Services: To achieve these outputs, the project will require an estimated 227 person-months of domestic and 103 person-months of international consultants. The consultants will build the capacity of MARD and the provincial departments of agriculture and rural development (DARDs) to: (i) develop and operationalize business plans for the Irrigation Management Companies (IMCs); (ii) create and operationalize a project performance and management system (PPMS) using a geographic information system (GIS); and (iii) coordinate and supervise project implementation. At the central level, expertise will be required in institutional development, water resources and irrigation planning, information databases, gender, environment, sociology, and GIS. At the provincial level, expertise will be required in institutional development, business strategic planning, financial and economic management, irrigation, data processing, legal processes, agronomy, and participatory irrigation management (PIM).

Sector/Subsector: Agriculture & Natural Resources /Water Resources

Objectives and Scope: The objective of the consulting services is to assist the Government (i) reinstate essential infrastructure, including roads, flood protection, irrigation systems, and social infrastructure; and concurrently (ii) provide equivalent or enhanced storm and flood protection to vulnerable areas where feasible. The project area encompasses parts of Ha Giang, Ha Tinh, Nam Dinh, Nghe An, Phu Tho, Phu Yen, Quang Binh, Quang Tri, Thanh Hoa, and Yen Bai provinces. The scope of the consulting services will include: (i) carrying out risk and vulnerability assessments; and (ii) reviewing the technical, social, and environmental soundness of feasibility studies and detailed designs prepared by national consulting firms.

The project focuses on immediate short-term assistance to rebuild high-priority physical assets and restore capacity and productive activities, and does not attempt to address medium- to long-term investments or other needs unrelated to the emergency. Rehabilitation will be based on considerations of need, technical feasibility, cost-effectiveness, and sustainability. The works will represent least-cost solutions that nevertheless incorporate measures designed to give: (i) greater resistance to natural disasters where necessary; and (ii) higher levels of protection to communities where feasible. The scope of each subproject will reflect the pre-damage situation and will not include additional features (e.g., road widening, canal lining, expansion of irrigation service area). To prevent a recurrence of the type of damage that occurred in 2005, subprojects may incorporate higher design standards than those of the original structures (e.g., higher deck levels for bridges, larger waterway opening in culverts, etc.). The project will help mainstream appropriate prevention and preparedness activities into the development process to prepare for and avoid the worst impacts of natural disasters. Risk and vulnerability assessments will be used to identify appropriate risk reduction measures. Distributional analyses will be made to determine the nature and impact of all positive and negative impacts, and the results will be used to improve subproject prioritization and thereby increase project benefits for the poor.

Consulting Services: The consultants will provide 60 person-months of national and 27 person-months of international consultant inputs. Expertise will be required in natural disaster risk assessment; engineering investigations and design of hydraulic structures, irrigation systems, roads, bridges, sea dikes, and flood embankments; geotechnical engineering; economic and financial analyses; and social and environmental aspects.

The following team is envisaged:

- i. Team Leader/Hydraulic Structures Engineer (9 person-months, international)

- ii. Natural Disaster Risk Management Specialist (6 person-months, international)
- iii. Roads and Bridges Engineer (3 person-months, international)
- iv. Social Sector Specialist (3 person-months, international)
- v. Environment Specialist (3 person-months, international)
- vi. Geotechnical Engineer (2 person-months, international)
- vii. Project Economist (1 person-month, international)
