

Leaving No Trace

Lake Powell is an important water source for millions of people, billions of fish and other aquatic animals. Garbage left behind makes the water undrinkable, unswimable, and unlivable for all lake users. Dilbert would like you to name three things you can do to ensure the water and beach are clean when you leave your campsite.

Playing It Safe

Boating safety is very important during your visit to Glen Canyon. Circle the items below that you need to take with you for a safe boat trip. X out the ones that are not important for a safe visit.
