

I enjoy computer games and play one called World of Warcraft (WoW). WoW uses the BitTorrent protocol to distribute "patches" (game code updates) to their customers. Due to Comcast's interfering with packets which have BitTorrent behavior, it can prevent people from receiving the patch. This is a perfectly legitimate use of the Internet that is hampered by Comcast's meddling with BitTorrent packets.