Adopted: June 22, 2000

Released: June 23, 2000

By the Acting Chief, Consumer Protection and Competition Division, Cable Services Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. On June 14, 2000, TESS Communications, Inc. ("TESS") filed an application for certification to operate an open video system pursuant to Section 653(a)(1) of the Communications Act of 1934 ("Communications Act") and the Commission's rules.¹ TESS seeks to operate an open video system in various communities in Colorado, Arizona, and Nevada (the "Service Areas").² In accordance with our procedures,³ the Commission published notice of receipt of the TESS certification application⁴ and posted the application on the Internet.⁵ No comments were received.

2. Pursuant to Section 653(a)(1) of the Communications Act, any entity meeting the requirements may obtain certification to operate an open video system.⁶ In light of the brief period (ten days) for Commission review of certification filings, the Commission concluded that Congress intended there to be a streamlined certification process.⁷ Open video system operators may apply for certification at any point prior to the commencement of service. Open video system operators must obtain certification prior to the commencement of service, allowing sufficient time to comply with the Commission's requirements regarding notifications that applicants must provide to potential programming providers.⁸

²The Service Areas for which TESS seeks certification are: Fort Collins, Colorado; Commerce City, Colorado; Thornton, Colorado; Northglenn, Colorado; Glendale, Arizona; Loveland, Colorado; Aurora, Colorado; Douglas County, Colorado; Longmont, Colorado; Arvada, Colorado; Prescott, Arizona; Casa Grande, Arizona; Henderson, Nevada.

⁶See 47 U.S.C. § 573(a)(1); 47 C.F.R. § 76.1501. However, an operator of a cable system generally may not obtain such certification within its service area unless it is subject to "effective competition" as defined in Section 623(1)(l) of the Communications Act, 47 U.S.C. § 543(1)(l).

3. As part of the certification process, the applicant must acknowledge and accept the obligations associated with operation of an open video system and must provide certain information regarding its proposed system.⁹ To obtain certification, an applicant must file FCC Form 1275, which requires, among other things: (a) a statement of ownership, including a list of all affiliated entities;¹⁰ (b) a representation that the applicant will comply with the Commission's regulations under Section 653(b) of the Communications Act;¹¹ (c) a list of the names of the communities the applicant intends to serve; (d) a statement of the anticipated type and amount of capacity that the system will provide; and (e) a statement as to whether the applicant is a cable operator applying for certification within its cable franchise area.

II. DISCUSSION

4. TESS has submitted an application on FCC Form 1275 for certification to operate an open video system in the Service Areas. We have reviewed the information contained in TESS' application. As required by Form 1275, the TESS application provides the following: company information and a separate statement of ownership listing affiliated entities; eligibility and compliance representations; and system information and verification statements. TESS also confirmed that it served its application upon the designated telecommunications officials in each of the communities involved.

5. We find that TESS has provided the requisite facts and representations concerning the open video system it intends to operate and has certified that it "agrees to comply and remain in compliance with each of the Commission's regulations" under Section 653(b) of the Communications Act. We note that if any representation in the TESS certification filing proves to be materially false or materially
