INTRODUCTION

This series of quarterly reports by the U.S. International Trade Commission is made pursuant to title IV, section 410 of the Trade Act of 1974,¹ which requires the Commission to monitor the flow of imports and exports between the United States and certain other countries.² These countries include, on the one hand, those that are accorded most-favored-nation (MFN) status under the freedom-of-emigration requirements of section 402 (the Jackson-Vanik amendment) of the 1974 Trade Act and, on the other hand, those that are listed in general note 3(b) of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTS).³ The countries receiving MFN tariff treatment are subject to the rates of duty in the general subcolumn of column 1 of the HTS, whereas the remainder of the countries monitored by this series of reports are subject to the generally higher statutory rates of duty in column 2.⁴ The monitored countries with MFN status as of the end of the quarter under review were as follows: Albania, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Bulgaria, China, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Moldova, Mongolia, Romania, Russia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, and Uzbekistan.

Tables on trade with all of the monitored countries collectively and individually appear in chapters 1, 2, 3, and 4. However, the term “monitored countries” does not include those countries subject to title IV of the 1974 Trade Act that are also under embargo. Tables showing the few items, if any, traded with each of the embargoed countries (Cuba and North Korea) can be found in chapter 5. All countries with the exception of those under embargo are included in totals designated as “all monitored countries.”

The trade data in this series of reports are compiled from official statistics of the U.S. Bureau of the Census. In chapters 1-5, imports are “imports for consumption,” amounting to the sum of directly entered imports plus withdrawals from customs warehouses, at customs value, which is generally equivalent to free on board (f.o.b.) value at the foreign port of export. Exports are “domestic exports,”

U.S.-produced goods, at free alongside ship (f.a.s.) value at the U.S. port. All data in this series are presented in terms of the Harmonized System (HS). The most detailed presentation of imports in these chapters is based on the six-digit subheadings of the HTS, and that of exports is based on the six-digit subheadings of the HS-based Schedule B (1990 edition). Aggregate trade levels and trends are presented in terms of HTS and of HS-based Schedule B sections, chapters (two-digit numbers), and headings (four-digit numbers).⁵

Section 410 also requires that reports in this series present data on the effect, if any, of imports from the monitored countries on the production of like or directly competitive articles in the United States and on employment within the domestic industries producing these articles. To fulfill this requirement, the Commission developed an automated trade-monitoring system to identify imports of manufactured goods from these countries that have grown rapidly, and to measure the degree of penetration of such imports. The monitoring system is run once each year. The results of the 1995 run are presented in chapter 6. Given the overwhelming importance of China as a source of manufactured imports relative to the other monitored countries, the 1995 run of the model covered imports from that country exclusively. Import penetration (Y) in the trade monitoring model was calculated by the following formula:

$$Y = M/(M+S-X)$$

where, M = U.S. imports
S = U.S. product shipments
(proxy for domestic production)
X = U.S. exports

Tables 6-1, 6-5, and 6-6 are based on the three-digit import-based Standard Industrial Classification (MSIC) system. Tables 6-2, 6-3, and 6-4 are based on the eight-digit HTS system. Imports under both systems represent “imports for consumption, landed, duty-paid values.” These values were obtained by summing imports valued on a c.i.f. (cost, insurance, and freight) basis and the duties paid on them. Landed, duty-paid prices of imports are those most comparable to the prices of domestically produced goods competing with imports. Exports by three-digit MSIC categories are on an f.a.s. basis. The Census Bureau’s 1993 product-shipments data constituted the data base for measuring domestic production. Table 6-7 shows estimated changes in the value of production and employment in those three-digit categories in which 15 percent of growth of imports from China, from both 1993 to 1994 and from 1994 to 1995, coincided with at least 2-percent import penetration from China and 20

² Section 410 requires the Commission to monitor the flow of imports and exports between the United States and “nonmarket economy countries.” However, since a number of the countries whose trade is covered under section 410 have rejected central economic planning, the term “nonmarket economy” is no longer used in this series of reports.

³ As of December 31, 1995, general note 3(b) of the HTS applied to the following countries in this report: Cambodia, Cuba, Laos, North Korea, and Vietnam.

⁴ The column 2 rates of duty are, in general, the full rates that were established by the Tariff Act of 1930.

percent import penetration from all sources in 1995. Data for this table were obtained from the U.S. Department of Commerce and the U.S. Department of Labor. For further details on the methodology of the trade monitoring model, see 76th Quarterly Report, pp. 8 and 9.

This quarterly report contains tables on U.S. trade with the monitored countries during October-December 1995. It also includes tables that show, either exclusively or in conjunction with the quarterly data, U.S. trade with these countries during full year 1995.
