Based on a complex query submitted using Pro-Cite bibliographic software and the Z39.50 protocol, these citations were compiled by searching the Library's online catalog for relevant publications using the Library of Congress Control Number (LCCN) to identify records added to the catalog in a given year. For recent catalog records, the first four digits of the LCCN indicate the year the record was first entered into the online system. In addition to materials about the country, the results may also include materials published in the country which concern other geographic areas.

Because of the limitations inherent in any online catalog search, do not rely on this document as a comprehensive or authoritative list of new acquisitions in the Library's collections. The list is intended to give the reader only an idea of the wealth of materials which may be available for consultation. Search the Library's catalog for more a complete description of the status and availability of each item at: <http://catalog.loc.gov>.

Interested in recently published materials? Take a look at our Africana Bibliographic Alert Service – Eastern Africa and the Western Indian Ocean (ABAS-EAIO).

Female genital mutilation is a deep-rooted traditional practice found in Africa and elsewhere for over 2500 years. Although the practice has been banned in Kenya it continues secretly causing physical, psychological, religious, and relational harm to thousands of women. This video takes a three part approach to this topic. The first part is the launching of a book "Female circumcision" by Sr. Dr. Ephigenia W, Gachiri spelling out the effects of this rite on women. The second part is a dramatization of a true case study by Loreto Limuru Girls High School showing the kind of pressure put on a girl by the cultural environment. The third part brings out the Christian alternative rite of passage being offered to girls by Sr. Dr. Ephigenia and others, coupled by testimonies from women who share the real impact and complications of the operation and interviews from church readers who give their point of view on the possible solutions to this problem.
