Selected List of Materials Published in or About Kenya in 2004-2006
Based on a Search of the Library of Congress online catalog
 compiled August 2006

Based on a complex query submitted using Pro-Cite bibliographic software and the Z39.50 protocol, this list of citations was compiled by searching the Library of Congress online catalog for relevant publications. Because of the limitations inherent in any online catalog search, do not rely on this document as a comprehensive or authoritative list of recent materials in the Library of Congress collections. The list is intended to give the reader only an idea of the wealth of materials which may be available for consultation. Search the Library's catalog for a more complete description of the status and availability of each item at: <http://catalog.loc.gov>.

The process of Kenya's constitutional review is as important as it is historic. It is the first time such a review has been done since independence and it may be a very long time before such an elaborate political process could be undertaken again. This video summarizes the Bomas conferences not only for posterity but also for civic education, future reviews, and research purposes.

Summary from videodisc container

Christine Bodewes, a Maryknoll lay missionary from the United States of America, is a lawyer, author, and human rights activist who has dedicated her life to service for the poor. Called to serve the marginalized of society, Christine left her career as a partner in a well-known Chicago law firm and came to Kenya. For eight years, she has worked in Kibera, the largest slum in sub-Saharan Africa. In December of 2001, violent ethnic clashes erupted in Kibera causing bloodshed, misery, and death. Christ the King Catholic Church in Kibera responded. Fr. Raul Nava, the pastor, invited Christine to start a human rights office to assist the community in Kibera. Her team of four, including Kenyan lawyer Kerubo Okioga, work tirelessly to offer civic education, legal aid, advocacy, and lobbying on a broad range of human rights issues impacting the community, including land and housing problems, forced evictions, slum upgrading, illegal distribution of illicit brews, and evangelization amidst poverty and despair. In this video, Christine gives "voice to the voiceless," and shares the highs and lows of her ministry to the impoverished people living in Kibera slums.

Summary from videodisc container

Community Based Rehabilitation Programme (CBR) of Embu is a project of the Development and Social Services Department of the Catholic Diocese of Embu. Created after a feasibility study of the diocese, this project started by creating awareness and mobilizing communities for action on issues relating to persons with disabilities. The CBR works with key stake holders basing upon its five major elements of implementation in inclusive education, lobby groups, transfer of skills, enterprise development, and play-groups for the young. Since its inception in 1986, the Embu CBR has managed to lobby, intervene for, integrate, empower, and create awareness on the rights of persons with disabilities. The CBR has so far succeeded in toning down negative attitude and stigmatization of persons living with disabilities. Currently, the programme is piloting implementation of its projects in other parts of the Embu Diocese.

Summary from videocassette container

Vera, a 20-year-old student nurse, discovers that she is pregnant after an encounter with her university student boyfriend Brian. She is threatened with expulsion. Paula, her best friend who had earlier undergone through a successful abortion coaxes her to do the same. Considering the stigma behind premarital pregnancies Vera gives in. Meanwhile, Sara, the abortionist, gets converted after seeing a life baby on the ultra sound machine and realizing that life begins at conception and is a precious gift from God. She reveals her past mistakes on abortion and greed for money to Vera and convinces her to keep the baby. Finally Vera is grateful for keeping the baby and for her preservation of the sanctity of life.

Summary from videocassette container

On January 29th 2004 the Kenya Government issued a 30 day notice to all living below power lines and close to the railway line to move voluntarily or otherwise face forceful eviction. The Ministry of Public Works, Roads, and Housing declared that it would demolish all structures illegally built on road reserves. A number of schools, homes, churches, and businesses were demolished leaving the affected with no alternative place to resettle. The demolitions drew reactions from the church, local and international communities and forced the government to suspend the demolitions temporarily. In this video, the church, along with the local and international community are urging the Kenyan government to listen to the cries of the poor and consider their plight while undertaking to improve infrastructure and upgrade slums by not merely suspending the demolition but by involving the affected communities and coming up with an alternative resettlement plan.

"The authors report results from a randomized evaluation of a merit scholarship program for adolescent girls in Kenya. Girls who scored well on academic exams received a cash grant and had school fees paid. Girls eligible for the scholarship showed significant gains in academic examination scores (average gain 0.15 standard deviations). There was considerable sample attrition and no significant program impact in the smaller of the two program districts, but in the other district girls showed large gains (average gain 0.22-0.27 standard deviations), and these gains persisted one full year following the competition. There is also evidence of positive program externalities on learning-boys (who were ineligible for the awards) also showed sizable average test gains. Both student and teacher school attendance increased in the program schools."--World Bank web site.

Project of Rural Women Peace Link, National Council of Churches of Kenya
Masol has been known as a hotbed for armed warriors which means the women here have nothing to look back to since constant conflicts have made it almost impossible to achieve any positive development. So the Rural Women Peace Link Network brought the International Women's Day celebrations to Masol and also organized for a special candle-lighting ceremony whose theme was peace in order to give the women of this region something to look back to and to encourage them to keep up the peace process.

Summary from videocassette container

Based on an original script by George Waweru

Accompanied by a study guide

This is a story about rape and abortion. About love and commitment. Two young people, Jenny and Peter are in love and engaged to marry. One day in the whirlwind of romance Jenny is raped and gets pregnant as a result. What do they do? Abortion? After a struggle with their conscience they choose to marry and keep the baby. It is an appeal to family and friends to give love and support to girls and women who experience the brutality of rape. An appeal to girls with unwanted pregnancies to recognise that the baby is innocent and does not deserve to die. An appeal to love and let live.

Summary from videodisc container

"This video was based on material from a study of abuse among school-going children in Swaziland (2003) by Ministry of Education, NERCHA
Videodisc label and container lists running time as 15 min
Sexual violence has been recognised as a major problem in and around schools in sub-Saharan Africa. Evidence shows that it is a major barrier to accelerating progress in girls' education. This documentary eloquently captures the voices of young people in Swaziland speaking out against sexual abuse and highlights their efforts to combat gender-based violence. It is a useful tool for facilitating dialogue and action against sexual violence with communities and schools.

"We report results from a randomized evaluation of a merit scholarship program for adolescent girls in Kenya. Girls who scored well on academic exams had their school fees paid and received a cash grant for school supplies. Girls eligible for the scholarship showed significant gains in academic exam scores (average gain 0.12-0.19 standard deviations) and these gains persisted following the competition. There is also evidence of positive program externalities on learning: boys, who were ineligible for the awards, also showed sizeable average test gains, as did girls with low pretest scores, who were unlikely to win. Both student and teacher school attendance increased in the program schools. We discuss implications both for understanding the nature of educational production functions and for the policy debate surrounding merit scholarships"--National Bureau of Economic Research web site.
