

we need to stop all deposition of anything from ships into our seas. we need all ships to come to shore and deposit what they wish to dump. we then need to charge these ships based on how toxic their dumping is. and we need to make the charges high enough to cover every single element of cost of what they wish to dump. the time when ships could sail over the world dumping what they want where they wish is well over. so much harm has been caused by allowing this in the past. we are much too crowded now to allow this kind of dumping.

all dumping must stop. all ships must account for their weight and pay for any dumping.
