Mrs. Margaret Danaher,

Biological Abstracts,
Univ. of Pennsylvania,
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Danaher:

Thank you for your recent letter; your news of Dr. Vanderlyn's passing was an unpleasant surprise.

As to indexing, I think we should like to tackle the sections on Cytology and on Evolution, so please send us the appropriate material. I think I am still fairly familiar with the various rubrics under which items are classified, but an example would be welcomed.

I should point out that we shall not be able to put in very much time on the indexes this month, but in August particularly I expect we shall be able to do quite a bit.

Finally, could you let me know what the present rate of payment happens to be? I still have a supply of perforated paper sheets adequate for the meantime, if you are still using these.

Yours sincerely,
Joshua Lederberg
