2007 Treasury Annual Employee Survey

(Posted February 2008)

The Department of the Treasury values its employees and is committed to making improvements based on employee feedback. To this end, Treasury launched an initiative focused on identifying and implementing strategies to improve the workplace that will result in earning Treasury a place in the top ten "Best Places to Work" ranking by Partnership for Public Service.

Employee feedback for the initiative is drawn from many sources, including the 2007 Annual Employee Survey which many Treasury employees participated in last Fall. Administered through the U.S. Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB), the survey captures federal employees' opinions on a variety of workforce issues, including supervision, employee development, performance management, work experience and work environment.

Administered both online and on paper, the survey was sent to a random sample of Treasury employees. 4,000 employees were selected, 2,000 from IRS and 2,000 from all other bureau components. Within each set of $2,000,1,000$ non-supervisory employees and 1,000 supervisory employees (supervisors, managers, and executives) were selected. The overall response rate for the survey was $71 \%$.

The results of the survey reflect that Treasury employees like their work, believe their work is important and have a feeling of personal accomplishment. The survey results also identify areas that need improvement, primarily in the areas of performance and recognition.

Highlights of the survey are:
$\checkmark 90 \%$ of employees* believe their work is important
$\checkmark 87 \%$ of employees know how their work is related to the agency's goals and priorities
$\checkmark 86 \%$ of employees like the kind of work they do
$\checkmark 81 \%$ of employees say their supervisor's feedback is helpful in improving or enhancing their performance
$\checkmark 79 \%$ of employees believe the people they work with cooperate to get the job done
$\checkmark 79 \%$ of employees believe the Department is prepared for potential security threats
$\checkmark 78 \%$ of employees say their supervisor supports their need to balance work and family issues
$\checkmark 77 \%$ of employees believe the physical conditions allow them to perform their jobs well
$\checkmark 76 \%$ of employees say their work gives them a feeling of personal accomplishment
$\checkmark 75 \%$ of employees believe the Treasury workforce has the knowledge and skills necessary to accomplish organizational goals
$\checkmark 75 \%$ of employees say they are satisfied overall with their job
Areas in which Treasury is currently addressing:
$\checkmark 45 \%$ of employees say they are satisfied with the information they receive from management on what's going on in the organization
$\checkmark 43 \%$ of employees say they have a feeling of personal empowerment with respect to work processes
$\checkmark 42 \%$ of employees believe creativity and innovation are rewarded
$\checkmark 40 \%$ of employees say they are satisfied with their opportunity to get a better job in the organization
$\checkmark 37 \%$ of employees believe differences in performance are recognized in a meaningful way
$\checkmark 35 \%$ of employees are satisfied with the policies and practices of senior management
$\checkmark 34 \%$ of employees are satisfied with the recognition they receive for doing a good job
$\checkmark 34 \%$ of employees believe steps are taken to deal with a poor performer who cannot or will not improve
$\checkmark$ 32\% of employees say they typically receive formal or informal feedback from their supervisor
$\checkmark 27 \%$ of employees believe pay raises are determined on how well employees perform their jobs

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY 2007 Annual Employee Survey Results

1. Interpretation of results:

2. How the survey was conducted:

The survey was conducted both online and via paper administration. The web version of the survey was conducted online from September 4 until November 2, 2007. An invitation to participate in the survey was sent via e-mail to the agency employees selected in the sample. The invitation included a link to the survey web site and a unique identification number and password to access the survey. The paper version of the survey was mailed to employees who did not have Internet access during the third week of September. Returned surveys were accepted through November 30.

The annual survey questions were embedded in the 2007 Merit Principles Survey (MPS). They were interspersed with MPS questions, based on question topic, in the following six sections of the MPS: My Job, My Immediate Supervisor, Performance Management, Managers and Executives in My Organization, Training and Development, and Demographic Questions. The three annual survey questions related to work environment were included in a section of their own titled Physical Work Environment and Safety.

3. Description of sample:

The population of employees sampled for survey participation was all full-time, permanent, nonseasonal employees who were employed by the agency as of December 2006. A representative random sample of these employees was selected stratified by subagency membership and supervisory status. Separate samples were drawn from the Internal Revenue Service and the remainder of the agency to allow independent analyses of the IRS and all other agency components. Supervisor and non-supervisory employees were separately sampled to allow analyses of differences between these two groups. Past experience shows that supervisors and non-supervisors typically respond differently to employee survey questions.

A total of 4,000 employees were selected for survey participation, 2,000 from the IRS and 2,000 from all other agency components. Within each sample of 2,000, 1,000 non-supervisory employees and 1,000 supervisory employees (including supervisors, managers, and executives) were selected.

In this report, the responses to the questions are weighted according to the number of respondents compared to the actual population proportions for supervisory and non-supervisory employees and subagency (IRS or other) as provided in the Central Personnel Data File. Weighting eliminates over or under representation of a group in the survey results that may be a consequence of the sampling strategy or differential response rates.

4. Number of employees surveyed, number responded, and representativeness of respondents:

Of the original sample of 2,000 employees selected from the IRS, e-mail addresses or postal delivery addresses were available for 1,840 employees, 988 non-supervisory employees and 852 supervisory employees. The remaining employees were not available due to retirement, leaving the agency, or other reasons. Of the original sample of 2,000 employees selected from agency components other than the IRS, e-mail addresses or postal delivery addresses were available for 1,849 employees, 950 non-supervisory employees and 899 supervisory employees. The remaining employees were not available due to retirement, leaving the agency, or other reasons.

Of the total of 3,689 employees in the final sample, 2,622 responded for an overall response rate of $71.1 \%$. Of the 1,938 non-supervisory employees, 1,412 or $72.8 \%$ responded. Of the 1,751 supervisory employees, 1,240 or $70.8 \%$ responded. Employees who completed at least one of the annual survey questions are counted as respondents although the majority of employees completed all questions.

The respondents are representative of the agency population in all personal demographic characteristics except that Black or African American respondents are slightly underrepresented. Some of these employees may be included in the multiple races category.
