Esc. I will goe darkely to worke with her. Luc. That's the way: for women are light at mid-

Esc. Come on Mistris, here's a Gentlewoman, Denies all that you have faid.

Luc. My Lord, here comes the rafcall I spoke of, Here, with the Prouost.

Esc. In very good time: speake not you to him, till we call vpon you.

Esc. Come Sir, did you set these women on to slander Lord Angelo? they have confei'd you did. Duk. Tisfalse.

Esc. How? Know you where you are?

Duk. Respect to your great place; and let the divell Be iometime honour'd, for his burning throne. Where is the Duke?'tis he should heare me speake.

Esc. The Duke's in vs : and we will heare you speake, Looke you speake justly.

Duk. Boldly, at least. But oh poore soules, Come you to feeke the Lamb here of the Fox; Good night to your redresse: Is the Dake gone? Then is your cause gone too: The Duke's vniust, Thus to retort your manifest Appeale, And put your triall in the villaines mouth, W Which here you come to accuse.

Luc. This is the rascall: this is he I spoke of. Esc. Why thou vnreuerend, and vnhallowed Fryer: Is't not enough thou halt suborn'd these women, To accuse this worthy man? but in foule mouth, And in the witnesse of his proper eare, To call him villaine; and then to glance from him, To th' Duke himselfe, to taxe him with Injustice? Take him hence; to th' racke with him : we'll towze you Ioynt by ioynt, but we will know his purpose: What? vniuft?

Duk. Benot so hot: the Duke dare No more fretch this finger of mine, then he Dareracke his owne: his Subject am I not, Nor here Provinciall: My businesse in this State Made me a looker on here in Vienna, Where I have seene corruption boyle and bubble, Till it ore-run the Stew : Lawes, for all faults, But faults so countenanc'd, that the strong Statutes Stand like the forfeites in a Barbers shop,

As much in mocke, as marke. Esc. Slander to th' State: Away with him to prison.

Ang. What can you vouch against him Signior Lucie? Is this the man that you did tell vs of?

Luc. 'Tishe, my Lord: come hither goodman baldpare, doe you know me?

Duk. I remember you Sir, by the found of your voice, I met you at the Prison, in the absence of the Duke.

Luc. Oh, did you so? and do you remember what you said of the Duke.

Duk. Most notedly Sir.

Luc. Do you fo Sir: And was the Duke a flesh-monger, a foole, and a coward, as you then reported him

Duk. You must (Sir) change persons with me, ere you make that my report: you indeede spoke so of him, and

She would sooner confesse, perchance publikely she'll be much more, much worfe. Luc. Oh thou damnable fellow: did not I plucke thee by the nose, for thy speeches?

Duk, I protest, I loue the Duke, as I loue try selfe. Ang. Harke how the villaine would close now, after his treasonable abuses.

Esc. Such a fellow is not to be talk'd withall: Away with him to prison: Where is the Pronoft? away with him to prison: lay bolts enough vpon him: let him speak no more : away with those Giglets too, and with the other confederate companion.

Duk. Stay Sir, stay a while.

Ang. What, refifts he? helpe him Lucio. Luc. Come sir, come sir, come sir: foh fir, why you bald-pated lying rascall. you must be hooded must you? show your knaues visage with a poxe to you: show your sheepe-biting face, and be hang'd an houre: will't

Duk. Thou art the first knaue, that ere mad'ft a Duke, First Promost, let me bayle these gentle three: Sneake not away Sir, for the Fryer, and you, Must have a word anon; lay hold on him.

Luc. This may proue worse then hanging. Duk. What you have spoke, I pardon: sit you downe, We'll borrow place of him; Sir, by your leaue: Ha'ft thou or word, or wit, or impudence, That yet can doe thee office? If thou ha'ft Rely vpon it, till my tale be heard, And hold no longer out.

Ang. Oh, my dread Lord, I should be guiltier then my guiltinesse, To thinke I can be undiscerneable, When I perceiue your grace, like powre diuine, Hath look'd vpon my passes. Then good Prince, No longer Seffion hold vpon my shame, But let my Triall, be mine owne Confession: Immediate sentence then, and sequent death, Is all the grace I beg.

Duk. Come hither Mariana, Say: was't thou ere contracted to this woman? Ang. I was my Lord.

Duk. Goe take her hence, and marry her instantly. Doe you the office (Fryer) which confummate, Returne him here againe: goe with him Prouoft. Exit,

Esc. My Lord, I am more amaz'd at his dishonor, Then at the strangenesse of it.

Duk. Come hither Ifabell, Your Frier is now your Prince: As I was then Aduerty sing, and holy to your businesse, (Not changing heart with habit) I am still, Atturnied at your seruice.

Isab. Oh give me pardon That I, your vaffaile, haue imploid, and pain'd Your vnknowne Soueraigntie.

Duk. You are pardon'd Isabell: And now, deere Maide, be you as free to vs. Your Brothers death I know fits at your heart: And you may maruaile, why I obscur'd my selfe, Labouring to faue his life : and would not rather Make rash remonstrance of my hidden powre, Then let him fo be loft : oh most kinde Maid, It was the swift celesitie of his death, Which I did thinke, with flower foot came on, That brain'd my purpose: but peace be with him, That life is better life past fearing death, Then that which lives to feare: make it your comfort, So happy is your Brother. Enter Angelo, Maria, Peter, Pronoft.

Isab. I doe my Lord. Dak. For this new-maried man, approaching here, Whole falt imagination yet hath wrong'd Your well defended honor : you must pardon For Mariana's fake : But as he adjudg'd your Brother, Being criminall, in double violation Offacred Chastitie, and of promise-breach, Thereon dependant for your Brothers life, The very mercy of the Law cries out Most audible, euen from his proper tongue. An Angelo for Claudio, death for death: Haste still paies haste, and leasure, answers leasure; Like doth quit like, and Measure still for Measure : Then Angele, thy fault's thus manifested; Which though thou would'it deny, denies thee vantage. We doe condemne thee to the very Blocke Where Claudio stoop'd to death, and with like haste. Away with him.

Mar. Oh my most gracious Lord, I hope you will not mocke me with a husband?

Duk. It is your husband mock't you with a husband, Consenting to the safe-guard of your honor, I thought your marriage fit : else Imputation, For that he knew you, might reproach your life, And chooke your good to come : For his Possessions, Although by confutation they are ours; We doe en-state, and widow you with all, To buy you a better husband.

Mar. Oh my deere Lord, craue no other, nor no better man. Duke. Neuer craue him, we are definitiue. Mar. Gentle my Liege.

Duke. You doe but loose your labour. Away with him to death: Now Sir, to you.

Mar. Oh my good Lord, sweet Isabell, take my part Lend me your knees, and all my life to come, I'll lend you all my life to doe you feruice.

Duke. Against all sence you doe importune her, Should she kneele downe, in mercie of this fact, Her Brothers ghost, his paued bed would breake, And take her hence in horror.

Sweet Isabel, doe yet but kneele by me, Hold vp your hands, fay nothing : I'll speake all. They say best men are moulded out of faults, And for the most, become much more the better For being a little bad: So may my husband. Oh Isabel: will you not lend a knee?

Duke. He dies for Claudio's death. Isab. Most bounteous Sir. Looke if it please you, on this man condemn'd, As if my Brother liu'd: I partly thinke, A due finceritie gouerned his deedes, Till he did looke on me : Since it is fo, Let him not die : my Brother had but lustice, In that he did the thing for which he dide. For Angelo, his Act did not ore-take his bad intent, And must be buried but as an intent That perish'd by the way : thoughts are no subjects Intents, but meerely thoughts.

Mar. Meerely my Lord. Duk: Your suite's vnprofitable: stand vp I say: I have bethought me of another fault. Pronost, how came it Claudio was beheaded

At an unufuall howre?

Pro. It was commanded fo. Duke. Had you a speciall warrant for the deed? Pro. No my good Lord : it was by private message. Duk. For which I doe discharge you of your office, Giue vp your keyes.

Pro. Pardon me, noble Lord, I thought it was a fault, but knew it not, Yet did repent me after more aduice, For testimony whereof, one in the prison That should by private order else have dide, I haue reseru'd aliue.

Duk. What's he?

Pro. His name is Barnardine. Duke. I would thou hadft done so by Clandio: Goe fetch him hither, let me looke vpon him.

Esc. I am forry, one so learned, and so wise As you, Lord Angelo, have stil appear'd, Should flip so grosselie, both in the heat of bloud And lacke of temper'd judgement afterward.

Ang. I am forrie, that fuch forrow I procure, And so deepe sticks it in my penitent heart, That I crave death more willingly then mercy, Tis my deseruing, and I doe entreat it.

Enter Barnardine and Pronost, Claudio, Iulietta. Dake. Which is that Barnardine? Pro. This my Lord.

Duke. There was a Friar told me of this man. Sirha, thou art said to have a stubborne foule That apprehends no further then this world, And squar'st thy life according: Thou'rt condemn'd, But for those earthly faults, I quit them all, And pray thee take this mercie to prouide For better times to come : Frier aduise him, I leave him to your hand . What muffeld fellow's that?

Pro. This is another prisoner that I sau'd, Who should have di'd when Claudio lost his head, As like almost to Claudio, as himselfe.

Duke. If he be like your brother, for his sake Is he pardon'd, and for your louelie fake Giue me your hand, and fay you will be mine, He is my brother too: But fitter time for that: By this Lord Angelo perceives he's fafe, Methinkes I fee a quickning in his eye: Well Angelo, your evill quits you well. Looke that you loue your wife : her worth, worth yours I finde an aperemission in my selfe: And yet heere's one in place I cannot pardon, You firha, that knew me for a foole, a Coward, One all of Luxurie, an affe, a mad man: Wherein haue I so deseru'd of you That you extoll me thus?

Luc. Faith my Lord, I spoke it but according to the trick: if you will hang me for it you may: but I had rather it would please you, I might be whipt.

Duke. Whipt first, sir, and hang'dafter.

Proclaime it Prouost round about the Citie; If any woman wrong'd by this lewd fellow (As I have heard him sweare himselfe there's one whom he begot with childe) let her appeare, And he shall marry her : the nuptiall finish'd, Let him be whipt and hang'd.

Luc. I beseech your Highnesse doe not marry me to a Whore : your Highnesse said euen now, I made you a Duke, good my Lord do not recompence me, in making

Duk. Vpon
