"Echo meetings" were held yesterday in many of the Washington churches. In each there were given interesting accounts of the proceedings of each day. One large meeting was held in Vermont Avenue Christian Church last hight. The auditorium was profusely decorated in Christian Endeavor banners and souvenirs of the recept for it. The evidence is winted by District Attorney decorated in Christian Endeavor banners and souvenirs of the recept century who have the proceedings were placed in a conspleauous place where members of the society could read about just what had taken place.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Roberta Braddock, who called on a dozen or more members to tell their impressions of the conjunction. Addresses were also made by E. M. Sterrett and J. M. Another large meeting was held in the Ninth Street Christian Church under the direction of Miss Grace Huriburt. Each day was separately discussed.

A. D. Bishop, president of the society of the church, told of Wednesday's proceedings, Miss May Huriburt discussed what had taken place on Thursday, and Friday's proceedings were outlined by Miss Grace Bowman and Miss Virginia Raymond. The open air meeting, which was held on the Capitol steps on Saturday, was the subject of a short talk by Moody Edwards.

The Junior chorus sang "Sunshine and Flowers," The Rev. E. B. bagby, pastor of the church, gave the closing address.

The society of Calvary Baptist Church held a large meeting. Charles Gliman presided and Miss Gertrude Miller described the musical festival held on the first night of the convention. Owen P. Kellar, president of the District Union, made an address and B. C. Getzsunger also gave a short talk. Miss Mabel Reeves, of the Mt. Pleasant Congregational Church, contributed a vocal solo. Other meetings were held in various churches of the city and at al of them there was marked enthusiasm regarding the work of the national society.

A consideration of these factors leads inevitably to the conclusion that Amalgamated is in a position to increase its dividend rate should the management of the company deem it wise to do so, and the pronounced strength of Amalgamated in last week's markets served to indicate how widespread is the belief that the rate will be raised.

POLICE SURGEON VALE HANDS IN RESIGNATION

Dr. F. P. Vale, of the Board of Police and Fire Surgeors, has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted by the Commissioners, to take effect today. Under the order made by the Commissioners August 1, 1993, the vacaney will be filled by a competitive examination before the United States Civil Service Commission.

M. F. F. SWARTZELL, Principal of Eastern High School, Whose Proposed Assignment to Central School Provoked a Storm of Protest.

There will be a special meeting of the hooi board at Franklin School tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, for the purpose disposing of the Swartzell-Wilson case, which has aroused so much inter est. Petitions from many sources have been received by J. Holdsworth Gordon president of the board, asking that E. M. Wilson be retained at the Central High School instead of being transerred to the Eastern High School, as con-templated.

Petition From Alumni.

A petition from the alumpi of Central the pupils and patrons of the school. Persons interested in the welfare of the ublic schools who have no immediate onnection with Central or ave added their names to the list of those protesting against the transfer of Mr. Wilson, and if public sentiment is

Mr. Wilson, and if public sentiment is taken into account the board will at tomorrow night's meeting decide to leave Mr. Wilson where he is.

What is to become of F. F. Swartzell, the principal of Eastern, cannot be learned. It has been said that his administration has not been successful, and, for that reason, the board is desirous of putting another man in his pace. Mr. Wilson's great success at Central during the past three years led to the suggestion that he be sent to Eastern to build it up. Cenral is in good condition, and the plan to transfer Mr. Wilson included the transfer of Mr. Swartzell to his place at Central.

May Clean Out Office.

At the printing office there is some worry lest the President may insist on a general cleaning out of officials who nave been engaged in the controversy on either side. That Public Printer Palmer will retire soon is stated now on the authority of Senators who have trail.

May Retain Wilson.

So vigorous has been the opposition, however, from almost every quarter,

Secretary Wilson, and on which a report was published a week ago.

Before leaving town Mr. Beach conferred with President Jordan and Sectary Cheatham, of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association, and got all the information they were able to give. Mr. Cheatham has been leaving no stone unturned in his efforts to help the various investigations. Messrs. Jordan and Cheatham left town last night, and, it is understood, they, too, have gone to New York.

der to correct any wrong impressions that may have been conveyed to the der to correct any wrong impressions that may have been conveyed to the public through them, has been taken up by Secretary Wilson and will be determined, it is expected, this afternoon. This supplemental report is to cover especially the cotton acreage, which is alleged to have been erroneously stated in the original report. Despite that there is a question whether funds are available for such a supplemental report, it is thought that it will be ordered made. The department this afternoon is in communication with the State reporting agents by wire with reference to this matter.

Typos Dissatisfied.

Some measure of dissatisfaction is re-Typographical Union because of the policy that has been pursued in reference to the investigation of the big printing office. The officers of the union advised that

The officers of the union advised that no action be taken toward securing a hearing before the Keep commission in the matter of the typesetting machine contracts. This advice was smally followed, after a petition had been circulated asking the commission to hear the representations of the printers.

Despite the reports of disaffection at the withdrawal of the petition, the meeting of Columbia Union, Sunday, did a not develop any action except the adoption of a resolution instructing the union's delegate to the Allied Trades' Council to take such action as might be deemed necessary to protect the interests of the craft in any future investigation of the printing office.

The remaining five jurors in addition to the above, added the Justifying words: "In self-defense."

Mme. Deen, the gray-haired mother of Berthe, was the dramatic figure at the inquest today. Berthe's face was pale, but had a flush on it when her mother testified.

The old lady gave her story in French, which was interpreted by Le 'Bun, the official interpreter.

Although there has been no expression, so far as is known, from any members of the commission to indicate what particular set of conditions the commissioners consider entitled to the consideration of a grand jury, it is understood that the stockholding interests of some families in a typesetting machine company have been of especial interest to the commissioners.

ably interested in this stock, was not summoned before the Keep commission. Some surprise is expressed today that the investigation should have ended without his being called.

Opinion is, now that the first inquiry has passed the stage of taking testimony, that there will surely be a further investigation, either by the present commission or by a new one especially named by the President for the purpose; by the Congressional committees on printing; or, finally, by a grand jury. Thus there are pienty of possibilities in the situation. They are discussed in printing circles with much interest.

To Sustain Contract.

One story that was told in financial circles today was that the Lanston con-tract was expected to be sustained. On the strength of this report Lanston stock sold on the curb at ½ point above the Saturday quotation, going to 14½. That the contract would be sustained was a report said to come from an au-thority close to the Keep Commission.

was a report said to come from an authority close to the Keep Commission.

This story that the contract would be sustained was based on the understanding that when the President raised his objections to further procedure, and ordered the investigation, the prize had already been pulled in by the Lanston people. The question then concerns the legal status of the contract.

There is no doubt that the contract was executed. The understanding is that the requisition for the suppliesnamely, the seventy-two machines—is understood to have been held up by the President's order. Whether this vitiates the contract already executed is a question which has received earnest consideration.

It is supposed that there will be no more public proceedings in the matter for a month or more. The lawyers in the case have till July 25 to prepare their briefs. Then the commissioners must digest and assimilate the essential facts; meet, agree on a report, and prepare it. After that it must go to the President, be considered by him, and action taken.
