Any member of the United Nations may accede to the UPU.

Sovereign countries which are not members of the UN may also become members of the UPU provided that their request is approved by at least two-thirds of the member countries of the Union.

With the re-admission of South Africa in 1994, the UPU reached its present number of 189 member countries.

* Union expenses are financed jointly by the member countries, based on a contribution class system. Upon admission to the Union, new member countries are free to choose one of ten contribution classes ranging from one to 50 units. An additional contribution class of one-half unit is reserved for the least developed countries.
