Number of Pages: 27p*

Keywords: "Fisheries, "Bibliographies, Abstracts, Populations, Growth, Marine fishes, Shellfish, Cod, Shrimps, Crabs, Bacteria, Oysters, Flat fishes, Algae, Invertebrates, Area.

Abstract: The following list of peer-reviewed publications, non-peer-reviewed publications, and published abstracts by Northeast Fisheries Science Center employees is the 13th issue in an annual series of such lists. Authors who were Center employees at the time they prepared their publications and reports, and/or who were Center employees during 1989, are denoted in the list by all capital letters. Editorial treatment of bibliographic entries is based on the CBE Style Manual, third edition (1972). Although more recent editions (i.e., fourth and fifth) are available, the third edition has been used to maintain consistency of editorial treatment among the issues of this series of publications lists.

INTRODUCTION

The following list of peer-reviewed publications, non-peer-reviewed publications, and published abstracts by Northeast Fisheries Science Center employees is the 13th issue in annual series of such lists. The lists for 1977-83 were issued as the "Collected Reprints of the Northeast Fisheries Center" ("Collected Reprints"). Each issue of the Collected Reprints included a copy of each peer-reviewed publication by Center employees. The lists for 1984-86 were issued as the "Northeast Fisheries Center Publications and Reports" ("Publications List"). The 1984 issue of the Publications List included a list of the peer-reviewed publications by Center employees. The 1985 and 1986 issues of the Publications List included a list of both peer-reviewed publications and some of the non-peer-reviewed publications and reports by Center employees. Primary purpose of the Collected Reprints and Publications List was documentation of Center publications and reports.

The list for 1987 was issued as "An Indexed Bibliography of Northeast Fisheries Center Publications and Reports" ("Indexed Bibliography"). The Indexed Bibliography expanded the purpose of the series to include not only documentation, but also reference. The reference role was accomplished through subject and author indices. The subject index was further divided into three subindices -- "Organisms," "Areas," and "Topics" -- to facilitate its use by those in the fisheries research and management fields. The 1988 issue of the Indexed Bibliography differed from the 1987 issue in that published abstracts were included, and that indices were cross-referenced. This 1989 issue is similar to the 1988 issue.

Some of the publications and reports by Center employees deal more with administrative than scientific matters. Consequently, not all publications and reports are appropriate for this document. Only those publications and reports are included that have been specifically identified and provided by the Center's Executive Staff. Several publications and reports which have 1988 publication dates, but which were inadvertently omitted by the Executive Staff from the 1988 issue, have been included in this 1989 issue. They are noted by a "*" Authors who were Center employees at the time they prepared their publications and reports, and/or who were Center employees during 1989, are denoted in the list by all capital letters.

Editorial treatment of bibliographic entries is based on the CBE Style Manual, third edition (1972). Although more recent editions (i.e., fourth and fifth) are available, the third edition has been used to maintain consistency of editorial treatment among the issues of this series of publications lists. Also, there are many foreign recipients of the issues of this series, most of whom do not use English as a primary language. Because English-language-based acronyms are particularly difficult to comprehend by non-English-using readers, I have employed the editorial convention of including the standardized abbreviations of acronyms within squared brackets immediately following the acronyms.

INDICES

ORGANISMS

For those fishes, mollusks, and crustaceans covered by the American Fisheries Society's (AFS's) respective lists of common and scientific names, only the common name -- if there is one -- is mentioned in the following index. For organisms covered by the AFS lists for which no common name exists, the scientific name is mentioned, followed by the encompassing order and family names within parentheses.

For organisms not covered by the AFS lists, if they have common names, then the common name is mentioned, followed by the scientific name. If they don't have common names, then the scientific name is mentioned and typically followed by -- for higher/more advanced life forms -- encompassing higher-level names within parentheses, or -- for lower/more primitive life forms -- a generic descriptor within parentheses (e.g., bacterium, alga, siphonophore).

PUBLICATIONS AND REPORTS OF THE NORTHEAST FISHERIES SCIENCE CENTER

NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) seeks to "achieve a continued optimum utilization of living resources for the benefit of the Nation." As the research arm of the NMFS's Northeast Region, the Northeast Fisheries Science Center (NEFSC) supports the NMFS mission by "planning, developing, and managing multidisciplinary programs of basic and applied research to: (1) better understand the living marine resources (including marine mammals) of the Northwest Atlantic, and the environmental quality essential for their existence and continued productivity; and (2) describe and provide to management, industry, and the public, options for the utilization and conservation of living marine resources and maintenance of environmental quality which are consistent with national and regional goals and needs, and with international commitments." To assist itself in providing data, information, and advice to its constituents, the NEFSC issues publications and reports in four categories:

Technical Memorandums—Issued irregularly as the NOAA Technical Memorandum NMFS-F/NEC series. Series includes: data reports of long-term or large area studies; synthesis reports for major resources or habitats; annual reports of assessment or monitoring programs; documentary reports of oceanographic conditions or phenomena; manuals describing field and lab techniques; literature surveys of major resource or habitat topics; findings of task forces or working groups; and summary reports of scientific or technical workshops. Issues receive thorough internal scientific review and editing. Limited free copies are available from authors or the NEFSC. Issues are also available from the National Technical Information Service, 5285 Port Royal Rd., Springfield, VA 22161.

Reference Documents—Issued irregularly as the Northeast Fisheries Science Center Reference Document series. Series includes: data reports on field and lab observations or experiments; progress reports on continuing experiments, monitoring, and assessments; and background papers for scientific or technical workshops. Issues receive minimal internal scientific review and no technical editing. No subscriptions. Free distribution of single copies.

Information Reports—Issued in several series, including: Research Highlights (6-12 times per year); End-of-Year Report (annual); News Release (irregular); Fishermen's Report (up to four times per year); and The Shark Tagger (two times per year). Content is timely, special-purpose data and/or information. Level of scientific review and technical editing varies by series. All series available through free subscription except for The Shark Tagger which is available only to participants in the NMFS Cooperative Shark Tagging Program.

Information Pamphlets—Issued irregularly as the Information Pamphlet series. Series includes easy-to-read summaries of the practical applications and implications of NEFSC research findings to current popular concerns. A list of available pamphlets can be obtained upon request. No subscriptions. Free distribution of single copies. Multi-copy requests considered, subject to supply.

To obtain a copy of a Technical Memorandum or a Reference Document, or to subscribe to an Information Report, write: Information Services Unit, Northeast Fisheries Science Center, 166 Water St., Woods Hole, MA 02543-1097. An annual list of NEFSC publications and reports is available upon request at the above address. Any use of trade names in any NEFSC publication or report does not imply endorsement.
